AERO® INTRODUCES THE CLAW™

A Tarp Arm Hold Down Accessory Exclusively for Easy Cover® Tarp Systems

Indianapolis, IN -- Aero Industries, Inc., a leading manufacturer of tarping systems and transportation industry accessories, has introduced a new accessory for its Easy Cover tarp system.

Known as The Claw™, the new option features two mechanical hooks integrated onto the cross rear arm of the Easy Cover® tarp system. Steel posts are mounted at the rear of the dump truck body, which allows the Claw to lock the tarp arms in place, securing the arms tightly against the tailgate. Preventing the tarp system from bouncing due to wind and rough terrain virtually eliminates premature wear on tarp system components. The Claw is simple, affordable and effective.

“Our customers told us that one of their biggest challenges in using an automatic flip tarp system was the wear and tear from rough terrain and wind bouncing your tarp system arms while driving,” said Alan Briley, Aero Vice President of Sales and Marketing. “Even competitive systems that include a second tarp arm experience this issue in strong wind. The Claw is a simple, elegant solution that provides a real maintenance savings to dump truck owners and operators. This is just another example of how Aero first listens to customers and then innovates products to meet their specific needs.”

The Claw tarp arm hold down is available as an upgrade to Aero’s popular Easy Cover tarp system and can be retrofitted onto most Aero Easy Cover models with aluminum arms.

Aero Industries, Inc. manufactures a complete line of accessories for dumps, flatbeds, agriculture, and other trucking and transportation applications. The company serves the trucking industry in North America and Europe with locations in Indianapolis, Indiana; Omaha, Nebraska; Streetsboro, Ohio; Burlington, Ontario and Elvington, York, UK.
